

COLLABORATION FOR COMPLETION:

Expanding Access With Course Sharing

For most higher ed institutions it is not possible to offer all the courses individual learners may need to stay on track every term. But when learners can't access the courses they need to fulfill requirements, they face delays and extra costs, which create significant roadblocks to completion.

Availability of Courses Delays Degree Completion

57% OF CURRENT LEARNERS report being waitlisted and unable to take a required course<sup>1</sup>

36% OF LEARNERS do not finish a 4-year degree within 6 years<sup>2</sup>

66% OF LEARNERS at community colleges do not finish a 2-year degree within 3 years<sup>2</sup>

Learners Are Forced to Navigate Course Availability Roadblocks

Or Worse, They May Stop or Drop Out

41% OF GRADUATES took at least one course at another institution<sup>1</sup>

36% OF ENROLLED LEARNERS have considered withdrawing within the last six months<sup>3</sup>

Course Sharing Keeps Students on Track

“The idea is that students are no longer limited to the one institution they’re enrolled in, increasing their ability to take classes and finish their goals.”

-DR. MARINA AMINY, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, CALIFORNIA VIRTUAL CAMPUS<sup>4</sup>

Parchment Course Sharing enables two or more institutions to make courses available to each other’s learners to count for credit at their home institution.

Discover how you can:

- Empower greater collaboration across institutions
- Streamline workflows and create efficiencies for administrators
